Duty to Notify the Bankruptcy Administrator of Material Changes. The Agency has a continuing duty to promptly notify the Bankruptcy Administrator of any circumstances that would materially alter or change a response to any section of the application regardless of whether they occur while an application to become an approved Agency is pending before the Bankruptcy Administrator or after the Agency has been approved. Notification to the Bankruptcy Administrator must be in writing, signed by an authorized official, and include all pages of the application and/or appendices that are affected by the change.

Notification of a material change must be transmitted in the same manner as the application.

In addition, the Agency must immediately notify the Bankruptcy Administrator in writing of any failure by the Agency to comply with any standard or requirement specified in 11 U.S.C. § 111, or the terms under which the Bankruptcy Administrator approved it to act as an approved Agency. The Agency must also immediately notify the Bankruptcy Administrator in writing of any of the following events:

- (1) Cessation of business by the approved Agency or by any office of the Agency, or withdrawal from any federal judicial district(s) where the Agency is approved;
- (2) Any investigation of, or any administrative or judicial action brought against, the approved Agency by any governmental unit;
- (3) Any action by a governmental unit or a court to suspend or revoke the Agency's articles of incorporation, or any license held by the Agency, or any authorization necessary to engage in business; or
- (4) A suspension, or action to suspend, any accreditation held by the Agency, or any withdrawal by the Agency of any application for accreditation or any denial of any application of the Agency for accreditation.

Approval Period, Deadline for Submission of Application for Renewal, and Standard for Renewal. Any agency that does not appear on the approved list immediately before submitting an application must complete a probationary period not to exceed six months. Therefore, unless terminated earlier, an agency approved to provide pre-bankruptcy credit counseling for the first time will be approved for a probationary period not to exceed six months. At the end of the probationary period, the Bankruptcy Administrator may approve the Agency for an additional one-year period if the Bankruptcy Administrator finds that the Agency has met the standards for approval during the probationary period and can satisfy those standards in the future. 11 U.S.C. § 111(b)(4). Agencies on probation must submit their applications for renewal no earlier than 60 days and no later than 45 days before their probationary period expires.

If the Bankruptcy Administrator approves the Agency for a one-year period following the expiration of the probationary period, the Agency must submit an application for renewal each year thereafter. Each approval period thereafter will be for a period of one year. The Agency must submit its application for renewal no earlier than 60 days and no later than 45 days before the expiration of its existing approval period. The Agency is responsible for monitoring the expiration date, and for timely submitting an application. The Bankruptcy Administrator will not send application deadline reminders to the Agency.

So long as the Agency has submitted a complete and timely application for renewal, it may continue to provide pre-bankruptcy credit counseling while its application for renewal is under review by the Bankruptcy Administrator. If the renewal application is approved for an additional one-year period, that renewal period will begin on a) the date its current application expires, or b) the date the Bankruptcy Administrator approves the application, whichever is later.

If the Agency does not submit an application for renewal before the expiration of its current removal period, the approval will automatically expire, the Agency will no longer be authorized to act as an approved agency, and the Agency must apply for a new six-month probationary period before providing pre-bankruptcy credit counseling to debtors pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 111.

Limitations on Advertising. Approved Agencies may not contact any debtor by U.S. Mail, other mail carrier, or electronic mail for the purpose of soliciting debtors to use the Provider’s instructional course, unless:

- (1) Any such solicitations include the phrase “This is an advertisement for services” or “This is a solicitation” prominently displayed at the beginning of each page of the solicitation in a font size larger than or equal to the largest font size otherwise used in the solicitation; and
- (2) Any such solicitations include only logos, seals, or similar marks that are substantially dissimilar to the logo, seal, or similar mark of any agency or court of the United States government, including but not limited to the Bankruptcy Administrator program.

Privacy Act Statement. Section 111 of title 11, United States Code, authorizes the collection of the information requested in the application. The primary use of this information is by the Bankruptcy Administrator to approve nonprofit budget and credit counseling agencies. Disclosure of this information may be provided to a bankruptcy trustee when the information is needed to perform the trustee's duties, to the appropriate federal, state, local, regulatory, tribal, or foreign law enforcement agency when the information indicates a violation or potential violation of law, or to a complainant or victim when such information is necessary to provide an explanation concerning the results of an investigation of which they complained or were a victim. Additional disclosure of the information may be to the Bankruptcy Administrator in other federal districts or to the Executive Office of the United States Trustee.
